

Counseling Center

Awards and Recognition

The University at Buffalo's Counseling Center is responsible for various web sites (e.g., The UB Counseling Center home page, The Counseling Center Village, The Counseling Center Directory). These sites have been recognized as some of the best counseling center sites on the web. Here is a brief listing of some of the recognition that we have received.

Web Guide: For The Best Time Online, December 1999. Our section on stress rated as one of the best such sites on the net. Read the original article.

SUNY Faculty/Senate Outstanding Student Life Program Award, October 1997 "Counseling Center on the Information Highway"

Innovations in College Counseling: The Counseling Center Web. Selected as an innovative counseling center program, American College Personnel Association, 1997.

Best of the Net: Bell Atlantic Internet Solutions. See the announcement at the bottom of this article in The Reporter (March 1997).

Web Site of the Month: American Psychological Association. See article in the APA Monitor (June 1998).

Favorite Graduate Student website. In another article in the APA Monitor (not available on the web, circa 2000), graduate students were asked which websites they'd found to be worthwhile resources for information on careers, research, professional development and graduate school survival. The Counseling Center Village was one of those sites.

New Riders' Official World Wide Web Internet Yellow Pages, 7th ed., 1998. We were one of fifteen sites listed under Self-Help, and we were the only counseling center.
